

Playing and recording with locals and legends alike, Ben has established himself as a versatile, reliable, tasteful, and in-demand sideman, bringing both electric and upright chops to the table, and adding his vocal abilities to the mix. Not just a sideman, though, he has also developed a truly unique voice on his instrument, which sets him apart in his improvisation, soloing, and composition. He's shared stages with such luminaries as Gerry Brown, Rick Latham, Steve Lukather, David Paitch, Rafael Moreira, Warren Hill and Mindi Abair, and recorded with Shooter Jennings, Josh Kelley, Jessie Colter, Suge Knight, and Sophie B. Hawkins, among many others.